Rifle Club Organized Auxiliary Last Night

An auxiliary of the Salem Rifle club was organized at the armory last night with a membership of 43. So much enthusiasm and interest in military tactics was shown that it is the hope of the officers of the company to secure at least 300 members who will be glad to drill every Monday evening. The members of the auxiliary are from the Salem Rifle club, but the enrolling as a member does not involve enlistment or military service. It is just for those interested in military tactics.

The purpose of the auxiliary is practically the same as the Plattsburg, New York camp, with the difference of there being no expense in the way of campfire out. The city council will be asked to permit the use of the armory over the city hall for drill purposes and headquarters.

Fred J. Roseberg, who was elected captain last night, has had four years' experience in military affairs and is thoroughly qualified. Last night the 43 recruits were put through the drill manual in a regular West Point manner. H. H. Lucas, elected first sergeant, is also experienced in military matters, and all the squad leaders are former military men. These include

U.S. Gov. experts report that oils correctly refined from asphalt-base crude "distill without decomposition" (do not break up and lose their lubricating value under cylinder heat) and "are much better adapted to motor cylinders, as far as their carbon-forming proclivities are concerned, than are paraffine-base Pennsylvania oils."

Motorists who use Zerolene, an oil scientifically refined from asphalt-base crude, back up the experts with reports such as these: "Covered over 16,000 miles without adjusting valves or cleaning out carbon."—"The carbon taken out of this car in 50,000 miles amounted to less than an ounce." Zerolene is for sale at dealers everywhere and at service stations and agencies of the Standard Oil Company.

Yesterday's big league hero was Fred Beebe, former Cub hurler, and discard of three other National league clubs, whose return to the big leagues as an Indian caused the downfall of the White Sox. He shut out the Sox 2 to 0, allowing three hits.

The Indians played a sensational game behind Beebe, Spenker, Howard, Chapman and Graney each robbed the Chicagoans of a hit.

The Senators and Yanks engaged in an eleven inning slugfest match. The Senators won when Melbirds' double scored Williams.

Five pitchers were pitted against the Athletics by the Red Sox, but Shore was the only one to stick and he was there only one inning. The Mackmen won 8 to 5.

The Reds finally won a game from St. Louis. It took eleven innings.

Christy Mattawson made his appearance in the first game of a double header between the Giants and Brooklyn just long enough to get credit for winning a game.

The Dodgers took the second game after a twelve inning pitching duel between Arquard and Benton.

Batting rallies in the final innings of both games won a double header for the Braves against the Phillies.

Chief of Police Welch, Frank Mapes, Francis Aline and William Ellis.

Regular drills will be held Monday evenings. Enlistments into the auxiliary are through membership in the Salem Rifle club, and after this entrance fee is paid, there is no additional expense. The new enlistments last night were:

Fred J. Roseberg, Fred Day, William Ellis, Eugene F. Moore, Henry A. Freedland, C. J. Green, R. W. Simmer, Charles McCarter, Ed Johnston, G. G. Wood, Rev. H. E. Marshall, A. E. Hutchison, Richard Avison.

SECRETARY DANIEL'S GOOD WORK

(Medford Mail-Tribune.)
Two years ago, on the recommendation of Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, congress was induced to pass an act providing for the appointment of enlisted men to the Naval academy each year.

Officers of the navy were scandalized. Heretofore, common persons had never entered the sacred gates of Annapolis. For a common sailor to be permitted to aspire to become an officer of the navy was unheard of. And Daniels was roasted.

Nevertheless, Daniels got the law through, and the first examination, held about six weeks after the law was enacted, resulted in the qualifying and appointment of five enlisted men. Last year eight men qualified, and this year it is announced 23 enlisted men have just passed the examination. As the law only permits the appointment of

Macleay Items

(Capital Journal Special Service.)
Macleay, June 27.—Quite a contingent of Macleay people attended the rally held at Victor Point last Sunday. The day was given over to children's day exercises and talks by Rev. E. R. Martin of Portland. He also gave a lecture on the "Life of Christ," illustrated by stereopticon views, at 8 p. m. in the Victor Point school house.

Sunday school was closed for the summer but the preaching services will continue as usual. Mr. Lovell will preach next Sunday at 3 p. m.

Loganberry picking will probably commence this week in Mr. Leatz's yard.

Secretary Daniels has written to the chairman of the senate and house committee on naval affairs, requesting congress to authorize the appointment of all 23. In the meantime, the appointment of the 15 who stood highest will be made immediately.

The increase from five men to 23 in three years demonstrates the efficiency of the educational plan put into effect by Secretary Daniels when he took up the duties of secretary of the navy. For this also he has been harshly criticized.

Notwithstanding the criticism under Daniels' administration, the navy for the first time in its history has recruited its strength up to the number authorized by law, and actually has had a waiting list.

RANZAU LOSES SUIT IN SUPREME COURT

A Number of Cases Decided But None of Public Importance

Arthur J. Ranzau's suit, brought through his mother, Dorothea V. Ranzau, to enjoin the sale of property by Sheriff Esch has been decided against the plaintiff by the supreme court. J. C. Davis obtained a judgment in Judge Galloway's court for the recovery of money and Esch has already sold the property to satisfy the court decree.

Arthur Ranzau, a minor, later brought suit in the circuit court asking reversal of the judgment previously made, on the ground that he and not his parents was owner of the land. Galloway ruled against Ranzau and is upheld by the higher court.

Judge Gantenbein of Multnomah is upheld in the case of Florence A. Medsker against the P. R. L. & P. Co. company. She sued the railway company for damages for the death of her husband, a fireman killed by a fall from a telephone pole in Portland. Gantenbein decided in favor of the P. R. L. & P. Co.

Mrs. Medsker had received $1500 from the Home Telephone and Telephone company for which her husband worked and the same company gave up $1500 more to the administrator of the estate.

The court also decided the following cases:

J. E. Hansen versus A. B. Robbins, Jackson county Motion to substitute restitution bond overruled.

Northwestern Transfer company vs. Investment company, Multnomah county. This is a suit for an accounting. A decree finding for the defendant is affirmed.

H. B. Weingar vs. Dan Steen, Coos county. An order requiring Steen to pay the balance of a judgment amounting to $800.44 is reversed.

Portland-Oregon City Railway Co. vs. J. K. Penney and P. E. Penney, Clatsop county. This is an appeal from an award of damages. The railroad seeks to condemn a strip of land running through the Penney property. The Penneys win.

W. I. Clarke vs. Ward & Obenchain, Klamath county. Action concerned the conversion of a carload of lumber. A verdict against Clarke is sustained.

First National Bank of Portland vs. Harry M. Courtwright and Morris L. Courtwright, et al., Multnomah county. The lower court found against the bank and is sustained.

John J. Fraser, appellant, vs. City of Portland, Coos county. Suit to restrain the collection of a sewer assessment. Opinion by Justice Harris; judgment for defendant reversed.
